Sends a Squadron to Korea.

The Anti-Russian Feeling is Intense at Yokohama and the Dogs of War May be Liberated Within a Few Days--The British-Russian Dispute.

Yokohama, March 25.—A Japanese squadron, Admiral Tanshima commanding, left Nagasaki Saturday for Korea. The general opinion here is that the condition is serious. General instructions have been issued by the minister of war, Viscount Katsura, to the commanders of forces to attend a conference at Tokyo, to consider questions of home defense. The war rumors are causing a fall in prices on the various bourses. The feeling is intensely anti-Russian, but the cabinet shows no indications of its policy.

London, March 25.—The dismissal of Mr. McLeavy Brown from the post of Director General of Korean Customs is regarded in London as another scene in the Russo-Japanese dispute. In 1895, and again in 1898, Russian pressure was exerted to procure his removal. In the latter case he was only reinstated after a British squadron had moved to Chemulpo. As recently as a few months ago Russia strongly opposed an attempt by Mr. Brown to raise a loan for the Korean government to purchase shares in the railway from Seoul to Fusan. As a result of her opposition the negotiation for the loan failed.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Mail asserts that M. Pavlov, Russian minister at Seoul, has protested against Korea taking foreigners into the government service with the exception of Russians, and demanded the appointment of the latter, but Korea seemed determined, with the help of the powers, to defend her integrity.

Does Not Concern Japan.
Yokohama, March 25.—The Japanese minister of foreign affairs, Kato Takaaki, replying to an interpolation in the house of representatives, said that Count Suelow's declaration in the Reichstag concerning the construction of German places upon the Anglo-German agreement did not concern Japan, as the government of the Mikado, in a man agreement did not concern Japan. The plain and unmistakable significance of terms, "it does not concern Japan," exclaimed the minister, "if another power interprets the agreement according to a strange code of its own."

Tien Tsin Dispute.
London, March 25.—According to a St. Petersburg correspondent, Count Lamsdorf, the Russian minister of foreign affairs, has agreed with Great Britain to submit the Tien Tsin railway dispute to the arbitration of Count Von Walderssee.

OFFICERS

Prevented Mrs. Nation's Speech.

Leavenworth Opera House was Locked

And When She Attempted to Speak On the Public Square the Police Interfered and Escort Her Away.

Leavenworth, Kan., March 25.—Mrs. Carrie Nation attempted to make a speech in the Leavenworth opera house, but the house was locked against her. She then attempted to speak on the public square, but officers stopped her. Later she went to the southern part of the city and addressed an audience of 500 persons on a vacant lot. She visited the National Soldiers' home and began abusing Governor Rowland for allowing a canteen to be run on the grounds. After listening to her for a short time, the governor called a captain of police and had her escorted off the grounds and placed on a car for the city. Mrs. Nation then left for Cincinnati.

Centia was traced by inspectors across the country and then from place to place on the Pacific slope.

TRAGEDY

Occurs on Ranch Near Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

Murderer of a Settler Killed Himself in Preference to Being Captured by Officers.

Sioux Falls, S. D., March 25.—Louis Cottier, a Sioux of mixed blood, was shot and killed at his ranch on Spring creek by William Day, a full-blood. Day and his squaw were seen to go to Cottier's cabin, and a short time afterward were seen riding hurriedly away. Men who followed them to the cabin found Cottier's dead body. Indian policemen sent from Pine Ridge Agency surrounded Day, who shot and killed himself rather than submit to arrest. The motive for the killing of Cottier is unknown.

Senator Hanna's Denial.
New York, March 25.—Senator Hanna arrived in this city from Washington. He said he will remain in New York for two or three days on purely private business. He said there was no truth in the story current that he and J. Pierpont Morgan had come to New York to settle the details of a transaction by which the Morgan interest were to take over the lake and ore interests of M. Hanna & Company of Cleveland.

Florence, Colo., March 25.—The strike of coal miners of the Fremont county district has been ended by an agreement satisfactory to both sides, and work will be resumed April 1. About 1,600 men are affected.

Horrible Work

Of Mutilation Done by a Woman.

Chopped Off Her Toes, Ears and Nose and Had Stripped One Arm

Before Her Ghastly Work Was Discovered and She Was Disarmed—Is Now in a Hospital and Will Die.

Toledo, March 25.—Mrs. G. Brun-schneider occupies a ward at St. Vincent's hospital and is in a serious condition as a result of horrible injuries self-inflicted. With an ordinary pair of scissors she cut off all toes of her left foot, both her ears close to the head and about an inch of her nose. She then cut out a portion of her right cheek, inflicted five gashes in the left cheek, and finally began on her arms. Beginning at the left forearm, she removed every vestige of skin, laying bare the muscles. She also lacerated the right arm in a horrible manner. Her husband was absent at the time. Her recovery is doubtful. The woman is about 50 years of age. It is thought that she was temporarily insane on account of domestic troubles.

QUARRELED OVER A TRIFLE.

Alexandria, Ind., March 25.—William and James Gilmore, colored, brothers, who with their wives occupy the same house, quarreled over trivial matters, when James Gilmore struck at his brother, who drew a revolver and fired two shots at him with fatal effect. The first shot grazed the wrist of Henry Campbell, who tried to separate the men, and inflicted a flesh wound upon the abdomen of James Gilmore. William then fired the second time at his brother, who had turned to make his escape. The shot entered Gilmore's left shoulder from the rear and penetrated the lungs. Gilmore died in an hour. His brother is in jail.

FORMER

Mayor of Niles, Mich.,

Suicides.

Body Found in Storehouse Near His Home.

Grief Over the Misfortunes of His Friend, Bank Cashier Johnson, Believed to Have Been the Cause.

Niles, Mich., March 25.—W. J. Gilbert, former mayor of this town, reputed to be wealthy, and one of the best known and most respected residents of Warren county, was found dead in a storehouse in the rear of his residence, where he had ended his life with a bullet. Grief over the misfortune of a bosom friend is believed to have caused the suicide. Warm personal relations existed between Mr. Gilbert and Charles A. Johnson, cashier of the First National bank, who died a few hours before the failure of that institution, and who was brought back under arrest from Ohio a few days ago, charged with wrecking the bank.

Mr. Gilbert was Johnson's legal adviser and trusted him unreservedly. They engaged in many enterprises together, and both for nearly 30 years had taken a leading part, commercially and politically, in the development of the town. How far Mr. Gilbert's business affairs were affected by Johnson's operations and the collapse of the First National bank, only a full investigation of that institution's condition can disclose.

At Which It Was Declared That the Assaults Average Twelve Each Day and One Death Each Year Results.

Chicago, March 25.—Twelve men assaulted in Chicago each day for no other reason than that they are Jews, with the average of one death a year growing out of these assaults, were figures presented at an indignation meeting of Jewish peddlers. The police, the speakers declared, make little effort to protect members of their race from the attacks of hoodlums. In several instances, it was said, the police had looked on while such attacks were being made and had failed to interfere. After half a dozen had spoken in protest, the Chicago Protective league was organized to demand that the police protect the Jews.

Is Making a Hazardous Attempt

To Capture Filipino Chieftan, Aguinaldo.

Hopes to Enter the Leader's Stronghold in the Guise of a Prisoner Accompanied by Friendly Natives.

Manila, March 25.—General Funston planned Aguinaldo's capture, and proceeded two weeks ago to make the attempt. With several officers and a company of native scouts, all picked men, they departed for the province of Isabela, where Aguinaldo is supposed to be in hiding. It was arranged that the native scouts should pass themselves off as Filipino troops, who ostensibly having captured General Funston and others, were taking them as prisoners to Aguinaldo. At the right time, when brought before Aguinaldo, General Funston was to give a signal, when the tables were to be turned and Aguinaldo seized. Six days' march into the interior was contemplated. Treachery was considered possible but every precaution was taken.

Conference Held by the Czar of Russia With His Advisers.

Foreign Troubles are Outdone

By the Serious Political Situation in the Very Heart of the Empire--Renewed Demonstrations of the Nihilists are Expected.

St. Petersburg, March 25.—The political situation is so serious that Emperor Nicholas held a meeting of the ministers to consider the state of public affairs. Threatening letters have been received by Lieutenant General Kourouakine, minister of war; M. N. V. Mouravieff, minister of justice, and M. Sipaginine, minister of the interior. Renewed demonstrations on a great scale are expected. It is reported that Prince Viazemsky has been disgraced for petitioning the czar to consider the grievances of students. Lagowski, the provincial official, who last Friday attempted to assassinate Privy Councilor Pobednotzeff, procurator general of the holy synod, is a disciple of Count Leo Tolstol, and he has asserted that the act was one of revenge for the excommunication of Tolstol.

According to a special dispatch to the Rossya, the governor general of Kiev, General Dragomiroff, has published a riot ordinance similar to that published by General Kleigels in St. Petersburg, and declaring that the military will be called out unless the ordinance is strictly obeyed. Some 40,000 persons promenaded about noon along the Nevsky Prospekt, particularly in front of the Cathedral of Our Lady of Kazan. The crowd dwindled to normal proportions when it became apparent that nothing would happen. The promenaders were for the greater part curiosity seekers.

Saturday 500 workmen from the Obshchew metal works paraded on the Nevskoi Prospekt. On the way thither they demolished the state brandy booths. Eight hundred Cossacks, with drawn swords, met the workmen, and a sanguinary encounter ensued. The number of killed and wounded is kept secret.

The police have discovered a plot against the life of the czar. It appears that a group of students drew lots and the fatal choice fell to the son of a prominent general. The student told his father and the latter informed the czar, imploring him to leave St. Petersburg.

In the last encounter at Narva Gate 100 workmen are reported to have been killed or wounded by Cossacks.

Kapovitch, the assassin of M. Bogolipoff, Russian minister of public instruction, has been sentenced to hard labor for life. He will be imprisoned in the Schlusselburg fortress, on an island in the Neva.

The czar presided at the council, which was convened at the Tsarsko-Sele palace. It was decided not to abolish the law for drafting recalcitrant students into the army, but for the present to refrain from applying the law. It was also resolved to revise the university statute.

Cuban Amendment.

Havana, March 25.—The action of the Republican party in Santiago in endorsing the Platt amendment and instructing Senors Gomez and Ferrer of the Santiago delegation to the constitutional convention to vote for the amendment, together with the letters of General Sangulilly and the mayor of Cienfuegos, advising acceptance, were incidents of the week just past that have tended to clear up the political atmosphere, until now there are few who do not expect the convention to approve the amendment. The visit of American senators and congressmen has had an excellent effect.

Kidnaping Charged.

Mobile, Ala., March 25.—W. H. Stevens, 35, a prominent merchant of Lucedale, Miss., is being searched for by the authorities of several counties on the charge of kidnaping. He is charged with having kidnaped the 12-year-old daughter of B. M. Stearns of Lucedale. It is charged that Stevens boarded with the family, and on Wednesday took the girl to Mobile. With them was J. A. Freeman, who was arrested on the charge of assisting in the affair.

Threatening Note.

Nashville, March 25.—"Kidnapers and Dynamiters" is the signature to a letter received by Joseph Schneider of this city on Friday. The contents informed Mr. Schneider that unless he placed $300 at a certain spot in Cumberland park by Saturday afternoon one of his children would be kidnaped or his house blown up by dynamite. No harm has yet come to the Schneider home, although the demands were not complied with. The police are at work on the case.

The car was crushed like an eggshell. Conductor John Seifer was killed, Motorman Jacob Tiller fatally and 15 others slightly injured. It is said the gates which guard the crossing were raised too soon.

Singular Fatality.

Marysville, O., March 25.—Francis Trout, 1, an invalid, who lived with his sister near Magnetic Springs, in trying to light a pipe at the kitchen stove while the family was away from home was burned to death. Verdi's Fear of the Sea.
The circumstances in which "Aida" was produced are worth a passing note. The idea of the opera was first suggested to Ismail Pasha, the then khedive of Egypt, and Verdi was commissioned to write it, being fixed at $4,000, and as Ismail did not willingly allow a question of money to interfere with the gratification of his pleasure, Verdi's terms were accepted, and he was even offered an additional $2,000 to proceed to Cairo to superintend the production. This, however, he declined to do, and for no more valid reason than his unquarrelable fear of trusting himself on the sea.—London Chronicle.

BY ARBITRATION.

Will Be Settled the Big Strike at Marcellites.

Marcellites, March 25.—The proposed arbitration of the differences involved in the strikes has led to a general relaxation in the situation. The measures of the police are now less strict. All troops have been removed from the streets and other public places, although retained under arms in barracks. The streetcars began running intermittently, and a regular service on all lines is promised. The strike of the bakers has not proved serious. The general situation is one of calm.

May Result in a Strike.

Pittsburgh, March 25.—The meeting of the Monongahela Traction company employees, held to take action on the company's refusal to reinstate several discharged men, voted to extend the time for the company to answer until Wednesday. The demand that the men be reinstated was again made. The issue and the sentiment among the men seems to be that a strike will be declared on Wednesday should the company refuse to accede to the demands.

No Police Legislation.

New York, March 25.—Leading Republican politicians of this city and state met in Senator Platt's rooms and were in conference for several hours. As a result of the conference it was decided to attempt no police legislation this session. The conference adjourned subject to the call of Senator Platt whenever, in his judgment, police legislation seems necessary. All who were talked with say the conference was harmonious.

Riot at the Races.

Brussels, March 25.—The races at Groenendaal were suspended on account of a riot among the spectators. In the first race three horses were left at the post. The judges permitted the result to stand. Enraged at this decision the spectators invaded the track, broke the rails, set fire to the paddocks and only desisted from the work of destruction when the judges promised to return all bets on horses left at the post.

Followed His Wife.

Cincinnati, March 25.—Frank B. Wright, publisher of the Cincinnati Enquirer, died suddenly, aged 42 years. His wife died of pneumonia in the morning. He had been worried about her while afflicted with pneumonia himself, and died in a few hours after his wife expired. Wright was not considered seriously afflicted until an hour before his death.

Kruger and the Czar.

London, March 25.—The officials of the British foreign office have heard nothing of any recent refusal of the czar to receive President Kruger or the other Transvaal envoys. They say they would be practically certain to have heard of the refusal if it had occurred, and they therefore consider the report to be most improbable.

With What Result?

Cape Town, March 25.—Severe fighting occurred March 23 between the British and Boers at Hartbeesfontein, east of Klerksdorp, Transvaal.

Fell Dead.

Evansville, Ind., March 25.—J. A. Rogers, a traveling man of Cleveland, O., fell dead in the Lott hotel. He was about 45 years old.

SORES AND ULCERS.

Sores and Ulcers never become chronic unless the blood is in poor condition. It is sluggish, weak and unable to throw off the poisons that accumulate in it. The system must be relieved of the unhealthy matter through the skin, and great danger to life would follow should it heal before the blood has been made pure and healthy and all impurities eliminated from the system. S.S.S. begins the cure by first cleansing and invigorating the blood, building up the general health and removing from the system A CONSTANT DRAIN UPON THE SYSTEM.

When this has been accomplished the discharge gradually ceases, and the sore or ulcer heals. It is the tendency of these old, indolent sores to grow worse and worse, and eventually to destroy the bones. Local applications, while soothing and to some extent alleviating pain, cannot reach the seat of the trouble. S.S.S. does not matter how apparently hopeless your condition, even though your constitution has broken down, it will bring relief when nothing else can. It supplies the rich, pure blood necessary to heal the sore and nourish the debilitated, diseased body.

Mr. J. H. Talbot, Lock Box 21, Helena, Mont., says: "I have also my leg from the knee to the foot was one solid sore. Several physicians treated me and I made two trips to Hot Springs, but found no relief. I was induced to try S.S.S., and it made a complete cure. I have been a perfectly well man ever since."

It is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known—contains no poisonous minerals to ruin the digestion and add to, rather than relieve your sufferings. If your flesh does not heal readily when scratched, bruised or cut, your blood is in bad condition, and any ordinary sore is apt to become chronic.

ST. HELENA HAS A BOOM.

Boer Prisoners of War Add Life and Activity to the Island.

Perhaps not since Napoleon was an involuntary resident at St. Helena has the island risen to so much prominence as it may now claim to enjoy. For this reason the report of Gov. Sterndale, dated August, 1899, will be found of unusual interest. The imports have jumped from $24,365 in 1897, to $291,999 in 1899, and for 1900 a much larger increase is anticipated. Labor is in demand at good wages; there is no want among the industrious, and "it is a pleasure to record," says the governor, "that, although money has been more plentiful and the temptations of the public houses greater, serious crime has been absent and petty crimes less than in the previous year. The cost of living has, however, greatly increased, and during the present year the prices of food have doubled and quadrupled, so that what used to be considered necessities of life, such as milk, butter, eggs and meat, are now luxuries, and the principal food of the poor, i. e., fish, is both scarce and expensive. With the increased garrison and the great number of prisoners of war, a large quantity of fish, which is plentiful enough in the sea, could profitably be disposed of daily were the people energetic enough to catch them. I have always advocated a fishery company here, worked by English capital and labor, and had such a one been started as projected in 1896-1897, it would have been reaping a golden harvest just now, both in salted and fresh fish. The aspect of the place has greatly changed; instead of the quiet monotony of past years, Jamestown is a scene of noisy activity, and the perils of our roads are considerably increased by four-in-hand milk wagons driven by reckless Kaffir boys."

The war on cigarettes takes on new importance when the governor of a state in his inaugural address recommends legislation which will prohibit their sale within the borders of the commonwealth. Governor Bliss of Michigan has made such a recommendation. He places the matter upon physiological as well as ethical grounds. His observation leads him to believe that cigarette smoking impairs the health and intellect, and leads to other forms of degeneracy. The state adopts stringent regulations to stamp out tuberculosis in cattle.

If troubled with rheumatism, give Chamberlain's Pain-Balm a trial. It will not cost you a cent if it does no good. One application will relieve the pain. It also cures sprains and bruises in one-third the time required by any other treatment. Cuts, burns, frostbites, quinsy, pains in the side and chest, glandular and other swellings are quickly cured by applying it. Every bottle warranted. Price, 25 and 50 cents. For sale by H. F. In Far Succonotchle.

BY DADNEY MARSHALL.

(Copyright, 1901, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

To say that Succonotchle was astonished when the new school teacher arrived expresses it too mildly. They couldn't have been "so astonished," said St. Hardcock, if one of the amen elders had taken to being honest in a horse trade, or one of the populists had forewarned whiskey and whisky. The Succonotchle boys and girls, young men and young maidens, were a rather ungente set, and the Succonotchle mothers, when the sacred persons of their offspring had been invaded by a hickory or their feelings hurt, were—well, the less said of them the safer. Between them they made the life of the teachers so vivid and spicy that with one exception they all resigned before the end of the term. The exception did not resign. He died at the end of the third week. Finally local talent ceased to apply, and the trustees were compelled to resort to a city educational bureau. It agreed to furnish upon the pay of its fee and one month's salary, a suitable teacher, and sent one Frances Irving. Failing to observe that the "Frances" was spelled with an "e" and not with an "i" they rashly concluded they were to have a male instructor.

Imagine their consternation when out of the back stepped neither a man nor a woman, but a delicious and dainty combination of pink and white, just seventeen years of age and pretty enough to have been picked for a beauty in Paradise.

"The lawd can't have made that gal outen the dust like the rest of us," said St. Hardcock, "but he must have took dogwood blossom and sunshine and dewdrops and wild roses."

She taught? Impossible. And yet, as they had paid out the state's money they must try her a month anyway.

Monday morning found her duly enthroned upon the teacher's platform and the schoolroom full of dazed pupils. At first out of sheer amazement the assembly kept quiet, and things went along smoothly. She mapped out lessons, divided the pupils off into classes, and now and then interjected little homilies about making the Succonotchle school the pride of the state. Her manner was so winning and appealing that it went straight to the hearts of the elder boys and girls.

However, their curiosity soon pallied. A little breeze of whispering fluttered through the room, but it was not long before it had swelled to a perfect tornado of talk. The teacher had not noticed the whispering, but could not pass over the tornado. In vain she told them they could not learn this way, and were throwing away the best years of their lives. With this statement they radically disagreed. "Woe ever heard of bullying a teacher called 'throwing away one's life'?"

By and by the boys began to vade up paper and throw it at each other. The school divided into armies, Britishers and Boers, and the wads flew thick as bullets at Modder river.

Among the non-combatants was Hal Baker, a young fellow about twenty-one years old—heretofore a ring leader—the son of the richest man in the settlement and immensely popular with all classes. During the course of the fight he had gradually edged closer and closer to the teacher's platform, and when a bullet aimed at the head of the "Lord Kitchen" had, owing to the expert dodging of that wily military genius, missed its aim and impinged directly upon the teacher's forehead, he strode over to the marksmen, and in the twinkling of an eye lifted that young man squarely off his feet and dragged him to the platform, and blurted out:

"Here, Miss Irving, while the life out of him, and keep whaling till he remembers he is a gentleman." Miss Irving reached a trifle viciously for the hickory, but dropped it, saying, "I can't do it, Mr. Baker." (Hal blushed at the Mister.) "He did not intend to strike me."

Then the storm of her tears broke.

He clasped her to him.

was breathing balm, he took her fishing down on the Pinoshook.

The girl was too busy with the flowers to do much fishing, and Hal—was too busy watching her to do much more. And they could not keep from laughing and talking and being noisy and happy. They were both astonished that the noon came so soon and their string of fish was so small, and they were a little confused, too, when Hal's mother commented on their non-success.

A few days before the school was to close, Miss Irving received a letter from her mother telling her some railroad stock which her father had owned had unexpectedly risen in value, and she would not be compelled to teach any more. A sudden joy flooded her heart at this prospect. Then she began to think how pleasantly the time had passed in Succonotchle; how kind all the people had been, and was there ever such a young man as Hal? She had never seen a stronger and finer young man. Was it possible all these people were going to drift off of her life? Would she never see Hal any more?

For some reason, she did not tell the people she was not coming back to Succonotchle, but Hal and the others knew of course she would go home on a long vacation. During the last few days of school his eyes actually dogged her, and they had such a long appeal in them she hated worse than ever to think of not coming back. She wished he would not look at her so. She was a trifle afraid of him. She had never failed to do what he had told her to do. True, he always used his power for her comfort, but suppose he should ask something for himself? What then?

She wished the old railroad stocks, as far as she was concerned, had not risen in value. She ought to teach. A woman should do something in the world. She had been told Hal had never studied, had never cared for anything, until she came to Succonotchle. She knew since her coming he applied himself strenuously, and she felt with the proper teaching and encouragement he would make a great man. She had even dreamed of seeing him governor. But without her would he apply himself?

Hal drove her to the station at the close of the school. They passed over the road where they had often ridden. How pleasant those rides had been! Hal said nothing, but his eyes were eloquent with appeal. At last they crossed the creek where that March morning they had gathered flowers, and fished, and dreamed. Had she ever been so happy? To stop the debate in her heart she said impulsively: "I am not coming back to Succonotchle to teach any more."

At first he was silent as if not comprehending her. She saw his eyes dim, but suddenly they flashed up with the same light of determination that had gleamed from them the day he had dragged the boy to the platform.

"Not coming back to Succonotchle? Well, you've got to come back. I want you, Miss Frances, for my teacher for the rest of my life!"

Then with a boldness he never afterwards understood, he clasped her to him, kissed her, and said: "You need somebody to take care of you. You struggle for a living? I just can't bear it. You've got to come back."

She was silent and breathless in his clasp. He did not know how fiercely he held her. He continued: "You've got to come. Won't you come back?"

"No, Hal," she said, "I won't come back." Then, as he unclasped her and turned a deadly white under his tan, she hung her head and whispered: "I won't come back, but—Hal, you can bring me back, if you want to."

he whispered, embarrassedly, "They won't bother you tomorrow."

And they didn't, and between Miss Irving and Hal things went along so smoothly and the children learned so rapidly, that Succonotchle speaks of it to this day.

Under such circumstances teaching would to the average instructor have been past time, but it was telling on Miss Irving. Her little hands had become pale and flimsy.

One Saturday Hal brought a pony over for Miss Irving to ride, saying she needed the exercise. She replied: "Why, Hal, I can't ride."

"But you can learn," he answered. "That's what you tell me when I get tangled up in my algebra."

He led the pony at first, but finally throwing the reins over its neck, he mounted his own horse, and rode slowly by her side. He swung himself into the saddle with such grace, and looked so manly, that he attracted her admiration. Heretofore she had thought of him as kind. Now it occurred to her she had never seen a handsomer young man.

One Saturday when the March sunshine was flinging through every interstice in the pine boughs little fluffy golden plumes of light, and the air

Feeling Nervous

That's the way it begins. Little things disturb you. You are irritable, restless and worry over trifles. Your heart jumps and palpitates at every sudden noise, you can't concentrate your mind on your work, your memory fails and you do not sleep well at night. In the morning you feel weak and exhausted, with no appetite for food and no ambition for exertion of any kind. Nervous prostration has no terrors for those who use Several doctors failed to help me and then I began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine. It braced me up from the very start and I was soon feeling well. Care of the Hair.

Many a girl has ruined a fine head of hair by the too frequent use of astringents. Nothing turns the hair gray so quickly. Ammonia in very small quantities is good for the scalp, removing the dead skin and acting as a cleanser, but used too frequently it will destroy the tiny follicle at the root of the hair and dry out the natural oil.

Electric Power for Canals.
On the canal between Brussels and Charleroi small electric road carriages have taken the places of horses in towing barges, and the speed has been increased from one and one-fourth miles an hour to seven miles. An overhead wire is used and it furnishes light and power to villages along the route.

RED IN THE BLOOD
is the sign of life, of vital force, of the force that life has, of the force that life is.

When the red is lacking, life is weak, the spirits are weak, the body is weak.

Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil puts red in the blood and life in the body.

It's the food you can turn into muscle and bone and nerve.

It gives you the mastery over your usual food—you want that. What is life worth if you've got to keep dosing yourself as an invalid?

Red in the blood! get red in the blood!

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

Pool of Interurban Interests

In Which Lima

Will be One of the Important Links.

Great Progress Made During the Past Week in the Consolidation

Of Ohio Electric Railways in Which the Lima-Minster and the Lima-Findlay Lines are to be Included.

During the week great progress was made looking toward a great consolidation of the railway interests that will be of vast interest to Cincinnati, Cleveland and Ohio generally, says a dispatch from Cleveland. The consolidation, among other things, means a through electric railway service from Cleveland to Columbus, a through service from Cleveland to Cincinnati, and from Toledo to Cincinnati. The consolidation will necessitate the building of considerable new railway and the investment of many millions of dollars of money in new equipment.

The interests in the combination are: Southern Ohio Traction Company, Western Ohio Railway Company, Cleveland, Elyria and Western Railway Company, Cleveland and Southern Railway Company, the Winters-Clegg syndicate and the Croxon and Wentz syndicate.

Routes in View.

An electric railway is practically completed from Cincinnati to Columbus by way of Hamilton, Middletown, Dayton, Springfield and London. From Columbus to Cleveland part of the line will be a division from Columbus to Delaware, which will be completed this summer. The Cleveland and Southern Railway Company is now building a line from Berea to Wooster, and a company is being formed, the leading spirits of which will be the Pomeroy, W. H. Lamprecht and M. J. Mandelbaum, which will build a road from the Cleveland, Elyria and Western Railway's terminus at Wellington, to Mansfield by way of Ashland. All that will be needed then to complete the line from Cleveland to Cincinnati will be the link from Delaware to Mansfield, and from the construction of this tentative plans have already been made. The line from Toledo to Cincinnati will be by way of Hamilton, Middletown, Dayton, Troy, Piqua, Sidney, Minster, St. Mary's, New Bremen, Lima and Findlay.

The Southern Ohio Traction Company has a line already built to Dayton, and a telegram received by Mr. Mandelbaum Thursday insures the settlement of the last difficulty in the way of securing the link between Dayton and Troy. For over a year two different parties have been trying to build a line from Dayton to Troy, and for some time is seemed as though there would be two complete lines between the cities. Some time ago construction was begun by the two interests, one working from Dayton toward Troy and the other from Troy toward Dayton.

Conference Held.
Mr. Mandelbaum last week had a conference with the parties in interest in Cincinnati, and an agreement was reached whereby the two interests were consolidated. The telegram told that the matter had been clinched. From Piqua through Minster a line is being built by the Western Ohio Railway Company, which company is now completing its lines from Minster to Lima by way of Napoleon and St. Mary's. The Western Ohio is also securing the right of way to Findlay. The line from Piqua to Troy, including the Piqua City Railway and Lightning Company, is being operated by the Miami Valley Electric Railway Company.

It will be the purpose of the syndicate as soon as the Dayton and Troy line is completed to absorb the Piqua-Troy line, either by offering the present owner an opportunity to consolidate on a basis of earnings, or to make traffic arrangements, or in the event that neither of these two propositions can be carried through to a successful termination, to parallel its line with the new line.

At Findlay the line will connect either with the Toledo, Fostoria and Findlay Railway, which is fast approaching completion, or with the line from Findlay to Toledo by way of Bowling Green, of which all but 10 miles is completed and in operation.

Only a Year Hence.

Mr. M. J. Mandelbaum, speaking of the plans of the new combination, says:

"By one year from today through cars will be running from Toledo to Cincinnati, and soon after from Cleveland to Cincinnati. We shall be able to run our cars from Cleveland to Cincinnati in 11 hours or one hour more running time than the steam railroads make now. We shall equip the road with sleeping cars having buffet service. We shall probably make up trains of two or three cars, having one through car for Columbus, another for Dayton and another for Cincinnati. As our trains will leave every hour they will become more popular than the steam roads, as a passenger can select a time at which he is to arrive at his destination much more to the satisfaction than he can now by using the steam roads, which run only three or four trains a day each way. As the stops made by our cars will be much shorter than the stops made by steam railroad trains we will make a gain of considerable time in that way. There is absolutely no question as to the feasibility of our plans and no question but what the through service referred to will be a big success financially."

NIGHT WAS HER TERROR.

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough frightfully and spit blood, but when all other medicines failed, three bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained 58 pounds." It's absolutely guaranteed to cure coughs, colds, la grippe, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at H. F. Vorkamp's drug store, cor. Main and North streets.

GENERAL DEBILITY

Funeral cortege will leave the residence at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning and the services will be held at the Sugar Creek church. Interment will be made in the Sugar Creek cemetery.

STRIKES A RICH FIND.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H., "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50 cents. Satisfaction guaranteed by H. F. Vorkamp, cor. Main and North streets.

The company carries every bit of scenery required and the costuming is said to be lavish in the extreme. Seats are now on sale.

Omega Oil

My goodness, how a sprain does hurt! And it isn't the pain alone that is to be dreaded, but the loss of time and wages. There is today many a person with a sprained wrist, elbow, hip, back, knee, or ankle who is unable to work, and is losing many a dollar in wages. What a pity it is that these people won't get a bottle of Omega Oil and cure themselves! Why don't they rub their sprains with this green-colored liniment, and get back to their work again? Maybe they'll try Omega Oil some of these days, and then they'll find out for sure that there's one liniment in the world which can be depended upon to cure sprains, bruises, strains, swellings, and all other bodily aches and pains. It is good for everything a liniment ought to be good for.

Never take a substitute for Omega Oil. If your druggist persistently refuses to give you what you ask for, the Omega Chemical Co., 25 Broadway, New York, will mail you a bottle, prepaid, for 50c. In cash, money order or stamps.

SELF DEFENSE

Is the Plea of Dr. Clark Who Shot His Office Mate.

The first word received direct from Dr. Clark, who, as stated in the TIMES-DEMOCRAT Saturday, had shot and killed his partner, Dr. Burroughs at Oway, Colorado, is a telegram from the young man to his father at Van Wert. It furnishes no particulars of the unfortunate affair but brings hope to the family in the following terse wording: "Do not worry. Self defense. Will be cleared. No disgrace."

PERSONALS.

The nearest parallel to Verdi's musical writing in his old age is that of Auber, who lived to be 89 and wrote an opera after his eightieth birthday. Delegate R. W. Wilcox of Hawaii sent in as his first nomination for West Point Joseph Kaiponohoe Aet, a full-blooded native of Hawaii, who will take the examination at once at Honolulu.

Professor Barou, who died recently in Berlin, left the bulk of his fortune, estimated at 420,000 marks, for the establishment of an orphan asylum, where the children shall be brought up on strict vegetarian principles.

Thomas W. Lawson, the noted Massachusetts yachtsman, proposes to pay the debt of Saltwater, amounting to $70,500, provided the name of the town is changed to Lawson. The proposition is meeting with considerable favor among the citizens.

The assurance is given that it will be cast that marked its wonderful run of 175 nights in New York. Thousands of people have read the book, "The Christian," in this city, and will be in-

is said to be full of dramatic strength, human nature and action. It is elaborately produced by Liebler & Co., and besides a large company of well known players, it is presented with a large auxiliary company to impersonate the different types of the characters of the poor of the slums of London, who have

Divorce Mill

Has Ground Out Nearly a Hundred Cases

In Allen County During the Past Year, As Shown by the Records.

The Present Month Promises to be a Record Breaker if the Present Ratio Continues for the Next Few Days.

The number of divorce suits filed in Lima during the past year will average nearly two each week, the total number docketed reaching a grand total of 95 cases, proportioned as follows:
April, 1900, 4; May, 16; June, 9; July,
11; August, 5; September, 5; October,
6; November, 6; December, 8; January, 1891, 7; February, 7; and March, up to the present day, 13.

According to the records in the clerk's office, 22 of the entire number have been settled, reducing the total somewhat, but leaving enough to call attention to the growing evil of hasty marriages and a quick repentance.
During the 25 days that have elapsed in the present month there were 13 cases recorded, which is the record month outside of May of last year, when 16 of the cases docketed were applications for divorce or alimony.
Ten of the cases filed in May are marked settled and it is possible that at least some of the suits begun within the past thirty days will lead to an amicable adjustment.

In many instances the full import of the family difficulty has been set forth and published, but the precaution has frequently been taken to keep the facts from the public by authorizing the attorney to make the entry "don't publish." The skeleton in the closet is thus kept in hiding, but as the docket is open to all who wish to examine it, the secret cannot be guarded as closely as the principals sometimes desire.

During the year the court has had many cases up for examination and while the application is not frequently refused, because of lack of evidence, the law as laid down makes it impossible for the presiding judge to refuse the decree prayed for when the grounds are supported by testimony that is indisputable.

Other states are afflicted with the same deplorable condition, although in a few instances at least the laws are rather more strict and there are fewer grounds for an application to be based upon.

The usual staid and formal proceedings in the Circuit Court at Frankfort, Ind., presided over by Judge J. V.
Kent, took on an unexpected aspect the other day which touches upon the matter under discussion. Rev.
David W. Evans, of Greenfield, Ind., who had been called to the city on business, was a spectator of three divorce cases, without sensational features had been tried and disposed of,
and Judge Kent was preparing to adjourn when he recognized the minister, and in a jocular way remarked:
"I see there is a preacher present;
perhaps he has a motion?"

Rev. Evans walked to the bar of justice, and after cordially shaking hands with the Judge, said:

"If it please the court, and I am in order, I would like to make a motion that fewer divorces be granted."

Instantly the lawyers and Court officials recognized the unusual turn of affairs, and crowded about the bench, while the preacher earnestly and rather excitedly before he closed, supported his motion with an argument of some length showing the "growing evils of divorces," as he styled it, and intimating that a large percentage of divorces were granted through faulty administrations of the Courts. Judge Kent allowed the preacher to conclude, and then, with much force and with evident earnestness, said in reply:

"The Court would be very glad to sustain the motion, and, as a means of accomplishing what the gentleman desires, would suggest that he and his fellow preachers be more active in raising the standard of morals, so that there will be only good men and good women to marry. If the fault lies with the clergy or with the Court, it is not with the latter."

Court was then adjourned abruptly, and Judge Kent was warmly congratulated by the attorneys.

Speculation and Theft.

Some statisticians, in emulation of Lombroso, perhaps, has been figuring out the habitual employment of convicts. He concludes that more men and women whose employers are the national, state or municipal governments fall into evil ways and come to untoward ends than those who work for private individuals or corporations. A very large proportion of the men and women who have been handlers of public moneys seem to yield to the constant temptation and begin to speculate, and some cynic avers that speculation is the corollary of speculation. As a matter of fact, most of the big and little thieves who confess how they were led to take money that did not belong to them, and some cynic avers that speculation is the corollary of speculation. DOING THEIR DUTY

Scores of Lima Readers are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty. When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick. Quackery and many kidney pills follow. Urinary trouble, diabetes, Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all. Lima people endorse our claim.

Mr. J. W. McKay, of 1140 West High street, says: "I had a severe attack of pain and soreness across my loins and kidneys. The secretions from the kidneys became irregular, scanty and highly colored. I was not subject to such troubles, and such a severe attack coming on so suddenly rather alarmed me. I could hardly stoop on account of my back being so painful and I sat or lay in any position my back ached severely. I was in pretty bad shape when I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a box at W. M. Melville's drug store and used it. It was only a matter of a few days before the trouble was thoroughly removed."

FATALLY

The Injuries That Were Sustained by Jack Carroll May Result.

Stabbed by Clem Deikman

According to the Charges Made by Policeman Armstrong Who was First Upon the Scene
---Bloody Termination of an Early Morning Quarrel.

Jack Carroll, an expert telegrapher, was stabbed and perhaps fatally wounded in a street fight that occurred at 1 o'clock this morning in front of Huffman's meat market, between High street and the public square, on north Main street. The victim, at 3 o'clock this afternoon, was still alive in the city hospital and there are hopes for his recovery but the wound he sustained is such that death may result at any time within the next few days. The stabbing is alleged to have been committed by Clem Deikman, a well known cook and lunch counter waiter who until last evening, was employed at the Elk, and he is a prisoner at the police station, but he denies having any knowledge of how the deed came to be committed or by whom it was done. A bloodstained knife that is in the possession of the police was secured by policeman Seeds soon after the stabbing occurred and it is said to be the property of the prisoner. In the face of this and other damaging evidence Deikman insists that he knows nothing of the crime.

Deikman Was Discharged.
Both Deikman and Carroll drank considerable during the first half of the night and were together for at least two hours prior to the cutting affray. Deikman went on duty at the Elk restaurant early in the evening and had not worked long until he became enraged because another employee did some work that he claimed should have been his. He became quarrelsome and Mr. Guncheon, one of the proprietors, discharged him and ordered him to leave the place. He put on his street clothes but remained about the bar room until about 10 o'clock, when Hayes Baker also one of the proprietors of the place, started him for home, accompanying him as far as Main and Wayne streets. After they separated, however, Deikman returned down town and fell.

In Company With Carroll.
They were together in the New Opera buffet about midnight and drank together. A little later they entered the Elk barroom and became engaged in a quarrel which started over their respective claims concerning the good positions they had previously held. They became so angry and noisy in their quarrel that Mr. Guncheon ordered them out of the Elk. They left the place and walked a short distance toward the public square. Then Carroll proceeded alone and thinking the affair was at an end, the few persons who had followed them into the street re-entered the Elk. A few minutes later, they heard Carroll, who was out

ALLEN
County Had a Desire for Ben Landis,
But the Prosecutor Consented to His Being Taken to Upper Sandusky as a Witness.

Ben Landis, famous as a witness in the case against the members of the Foster gang, was placed under arrest yesterday by officer Hemphill on the charge of horse stealing. The arrest was made on a warrant held by the sheriff of Allen county, and the crime alleged was the theft of the same horse for the stealing of which Ben Wade is now serving time in the penitentiary. Landis protested against the arrest but to no avail. He has been confined lately in the Wyandotte county jail and has been permitted to do about as he pleased. He was here yesterday without the company of an officer. Prosecuting Attorney Meek, of Upper Sandusky, happened to be in the city, and hearing of the arrest, at once placed himself in communication by phone with the prosecuting attorney of Allen county, and arranged that Landis should not be taken in custody on the horse stealing charge until after he had served his usefulness as a witness in the Johnson murder case. He was at once removed from the city and taken to Upper Sandusky.—Findlay Republican.

FAILURE

Is the Word That Comes from Indiana.

A Test Well at Berne and Three Dusters in the Marion Field Give Speculators a Shock.

The Ohio Oil company has secured three dusters in the Marion field and nerves of the speculators at that end have received a severe shock. One is located in section 20, Center township, and the others are situated in sections 28 and 29, Mill township. While a duster may be obtained in any part of this or any other portion of the Trenton rock regions, yet the appearance of three of them in succession, in a locality supposed to contain the precious elements in some degree, lends an air of uncertainty to this section that cannot fail to cast a shade over its future, and prohibit extensive operations.

Important Test Well.
A well of some importance was completed on Thursday last by Well & Co., east of Berne, Ind. It is so light that it is pronounced a failure. The well was drilled with a view of extending the production area to the north and west from the property of the Superior Oil company in Adams township. It is two and one-half miles distant from the latter.

LIFE GUARDS.

The Life Guards are two regiments of cavalry forming part of the British household troops. They are gallant soldiers, and every loyal British heart is proud of them. Not only the Queen's household, but yours, ours, everybody's should have its life guards. The need of them is especially great when the greatest foes of life, diseases, find allies in the very elements, as colds, influenza, catarrh, the grip and pneumonia do in the stormy month of March. The best way that we know of to guard against these diseases is to strengthen the system with Hood's Sarsaparilla—the greatest of all life guards. It removes the conditions in which these diseases make their most successful attack, gives vigor and tone to all the vital organs and functions, and imparts a genial warmth to the blood. Remember the weaker the system the greater the exposure to disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the system strong.

TRAMP

Falls from a Pennsy Train.

Lost His Hat,

In a Little Mix-up With a Brakeman

Was Badly Hurt But Refused to Take a Ride in an Ambulance

And Asked Man in Charge of It If He Couldn't Give Him Fifteen Cents to Buy Something to Eat With.

About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a tramp whose name could not be learned, was badly injured by falling off of east bound freight train on the P. Ft. W. & C. railroad. The accident occurred at a point about two miles east of the city and though several different stories have been told concerning it, the one told by a man who was walking along the tracks and witnessed it is doubtless the most reliable.

About 4:20 o'clock Grosjean's ambulance was called out by a telephone message which announced that a man had fallen off of a P. Ft. W. & C. train and had his face and head crushed. The message also stated that the man was believed to be dead, as he was lying beside the track with his face covered with blood and seemed to have ceased breathing. All of Mr. Grosjean's teams were in service at the funeral, but Mr. Eckert, his assistant, quickly secured a team from I. N. Pangle's barn and promptly responded to the call, driving to the scene of the accident as rapidly as possible. Several men and boys had collected about the prostrate form of the tramp and when some one remarked, "Here comes the ambulance" the "dead" man suddenly regained life and vigor. He scrambled to his feet, started eastward upon one of the tracks as if nothing had happened, though his face was so bloody and so badly disfigured that he could barely see. Mr. Eckert hurried after him hoping to learn something of the accident, and upon being questioned the tramp declared that the brakeman had knocked him off of the caboose by striking his across the nose with a stove poker. The fellow's nose was badly cut and bruised, he had a couple of teeth knocked out and his face was lacerated and bleeding as a result of his falling upon the stone ballast beside the track when he dropped off of the caboose but notwithstanding his deplorable condition he did not forget his profession. "Say," he said to Mr. Eckert, "you look like a pretty good feller, give me fifteen cents to buy some grub with."

Mr. Eckert had already contracted an expense of $2 for a team to go after the injured tramp with and he declined to be enticed out of an extra sum, just because the tramp complimented him by saying he looked like a "good fellow." He did however offer to haul the man to the city and have his wounds dressed, but Mr. Hobo declined the offer, saying he wasn't "hurt much."

The man who witnessed the accident says that the tramp was on the rear steps of the caboose and the brakeman requested him to unload. He refused to do so and the brakeman threw his hat off. The tramp turned to see the hat fall and losing his balance, fell after it.
